Production-ready outreach sequences

Helping More Borrowers Become Lending Ready.

How to use this file

Personalize the bracketed fields, send from a real person, and direct every campaign to one primary action: schedule a conversation, submit a referral, or request the partner kit.

Campaign A — Mortgage Loan Officers

Email 1: Introduce the partnership

Subject: A better next step for declined borrowers

Hi [First Name],

When a borrower is not mortgage-ready today, the relationship does not have to end. Lending Readiness Partners helps clients understand the credit factors holding them back, follow a personalized improvement plan, and stay connected to the professional who referred them.

Our partner workflow is designed to be simple: you introduce the borrower, we complete the readiness review, the client receives a documented action plan, and—with the client's written permission—you receive milestone updates.

Would you be open to a brief conversation about how this could support your pipeline?

Email 2: Reframe declines

Subject: Do not lose the borrower after “not yet”

Hi [First Name],

A credit-related decline should often mean “not yet,” not “never.” Our goal is to help your borrower leave the conversation with a clear next step while preserving your relationship with the future buyer.

Our partner workflow is designed to be simple: you introduce the borrower, we complete the readiness review, the client receives a documented action plan, and—with the client’s written permission—you receive milestone updates.

Email 3: Explain process

Subject: A simple referral workflow for credit-challenged applicants

Hi [First Name],

When a borrower is not mortgage-ready today, the relationship does not have to end. Lending Readiness Partners helps clients understand the credit factors holding them back, follow a personalized improvement plan, and stay connected to the professional who referred them.

Referral workflow: 1) obtain the borrower’s permission, 2) submit the secure referral form, 3) we contact the client, 4) we build the readiness plan, and 5) the client returns to you when appropriate for a new lending review.
